Career Services welcomes Morgan McLaughlin, University Talent Acquisition Partner at Tech Data Corporation. Morgan has a strong background in mass communication and media, and manages internship and entry-level employment programs at this Fortune 100 technology provider.

The pandemic has changed the workforce as we know it and increased the number of job seekers vying for the same jobs. It can feel very stressful if you are a new graduate, a student looking for internship opportunities or have recently lost your job.

What are those who are reviewing your application and resume thinking? What do they expect from you in an interview? What is important to stand out from the pack?

Take this remote opportunity to speak directly with a recruiter about common job search concerns during the pandemic. Career services will host a casual Q&A style session, covering commonly asked questions and taking live questions from the audience.
